Business of the Week

Earthen Elegance Floral

By Dan Rankin

Our Business of the Week is Earthen Elegance Floral, which Lucan-area residents have been trusting for all their florist needs for a decade, and which has just expanded to a new Exeter location at 287 Main St. South.

Jaela Jenken-VanBommel, who owns both the Lucan and Exeter locations, has been working with flowers for about 14 years, since graduating from Flowers Canada in Guelph and first getting a job at a flower shop in Strathroy. On Monday, she was overseeing the finishing touches of the Exeter location's new cooler where Earthen Elegance's fresh flowers will be stored.

"We're just getting into our spring flowers," she said. "For outside, we have pansies and things like that. Within the next couple of weeks we'll have hanging baskets and patio pots, and then we always have our cooler full of fresh flowers."

Earthen Elegance aims to offer everything from your everyday flower needs, to more specific occasions such as sympathy flowers or bridal and wedding flowers. Through their years of experience, they have developed working relationships with area retirement homes, South Huron Hospital, as well as Haskett Funeral Homes Ltd. in Exeter and Lucan and Denning Bros. Funeral Home in Ailsa Craig. They also deliver to many locations throughout the area, from Ilderton and Arva, to Zurich and Hensall and all points in between.

"We can do pretty much anything for any budget," Jenken-VanBommel said.

As well as fresh flowers, plants and arrangements in a variety of styles and designs, Earthen Elegance offers a selection of gift items, including candles and chocolates from The Chocolate Factory.

The hours for the new Exeter location will be 10:00 am to 5:00 pm Monday through Friday and 10:00 am to 2:00 pm on Saturdays. For more information, and to keep up with different deals and specials coming up in the future follow Earthen Elegance
